Auction addendum notes

20th November 2026

We undertake best endeavours to correctly describe Lots, we occasionally get it wrong or miss something, occasionally information comes to light following the publication of the listing (it is always appreciated when people contact us to point out an error).

Once an auction is “live” we cannot alter the original listing, so an addendum is published.

Please read the latest addendum notes in conjunction with viewing the images and information for the associated Lots before bidding.
